Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Conscription Act Vindicated A writer styling himself An Original War Democrat, in a series of articles published recently in a leading journal, attacking the constitutionality of the conscription law, passed by the late Congress, sets out with the remark, that the people of the State of New York proclaimed at the election last fall, and have unmistakably reiterated at the elections this spring, their determination hereafter, to be governed by law, and not by the arbitrary will of any man, or any body of men. It is presumed there will be few who will cavil at this determination, and fewer still, to whom the conviction of the possibility of preserving the government, without even so much as a suspension of the least prized of our civil rights, would not bring with it a sense of relief and satisfaction. It would be an additional ground of hope, if we could be assured that all constitutional laws would be obeyed, and that questions affecting their validity were raised to elicit the truth, and not to embarrass the government. The argument of the writer referred to, rests mainly on the proposition: that the power to pass such a law does not exist, unless it is affirmatively given to Congress by the Constitution, all other power being reserved to the States respectively, or to the people. The act is based on the power to raise and support armies; and the first question is, what is the meaning of the clause, and other clauses bearing on the subject, as gathered from a consideration of the ends and purposes for which the Constitution was formed, and as established by the...
